

Observe

Problem:

The section on reordering detection is too complex. (Ticket #129)

Solution:

Simplify the text.

Problem:

Observe is a little bit too happy to drop an observation relationship at the slightest sign of trouble

Solution:

A server must make a commitment for some duration to notify the client even when the client doesn't seem to respond

Problem: It's difficult to send an observation relationship establishment request to a server when the server is sleeping most of the time

Possible solutions:

Proxy buffers requests on behalf of sleeping nodes

Static observation relationships
= an observation relationship that is configured